

Step 3:

Once the ad has been constructed the client has as much creative input as they desire. This particular client opted to include several items that were not part of the original photographs. A television, flowers in a vase, a painting, as well as coffee cups were all superimposed onto the advertisement.